Ammonite System is a Polish design and production company established in 2006 acting in several fields of businesses, one of them being diving equipment manufacturing.

We offer the highest quality primary and secondary underwater lighting, and heating systems.

Ammonite System provides explorers, leaders and those looking to develop and expand the boundaries of diving, with the ability to dive safely and comfortably within exceptional environments, allowing them to experience dive exploration to the full.

The needs, full safety and satisfaction of our clients are the most important for us.

We warmly invite you to co-operation.
